

I can not think of anyone who enjoys having their phones used for advertisement purposes. We receive ads in the mail, read them in news papers and magazines, and watch them on TV. It is my choice to read the ads and watch TV. I choose when I will read the mail, a magazine, a news paper or watch TV.

I have no choice when the phone will ring. So, unless I pay to have caller ID installed and go to the phone, the only other choice is to ignor the ringing phone or just turn off the ringer. These really can not be considered choices or options.

Do not weaken a law that works for the public.
